Outpatient Oncology/Atherton Place

(Students can only work outpatient oncology locations on Mondays and Tuesdays, 8:30am-2pm)

Our Oncology Outpatient services consists of Wellstar Cobb Cancer and Infusion Center, the Northwest Georgia Oncology Center (NGOC), and the STAT Clinic. The Wellstar Cobb Cancer and Infusion Center serves a variety of patients receiving treatment that ranges from simple blood withdrawal to different types of chemotherapy. Conveniently located, patients come in for treatment and return home the same day. Each treatment plan is outlined by the doctor and carried out by nursing staff.

The chaplain working at these three locations has to be able to be in the moment. With a diverse patient community, ranging in age from 18 to 100, each patient has different needs and comes with their own ups and downs. In addition, the chaplain must be willing to learn ways of coping with personal discomfort, both physically and emotionally, when providing care to patients.

The chaplain must have some flexibility to work with the staff on special projects, serve as a member of the cancer support group, and attend team meetings at the center. In addition to providing support for patients, chaplains have to be present to the staff by providing spiritual support when most needed. Chaplains work with professionals from various disciplines, including nurses, doctors, financial advisors, schedulers, Social Workers, and dietitians. An interesting dynamic is that currently at each center there is an all-female staff, except for the doctor.
