Follow-up Plan for Bariatric Patients

Patients are seen for follow-up visits at one week, one month, three months, six months and one year following surgery, plus additional visits as needed. We continue to follow up annually for life.

Laboratory Studies

Blood work is done at three months, six months, one year and then yearly for life. Labs are also taken at nine and 18 months if there are concerns about vitamin, protein or mineral deficiency. Any deficiencies you have will be monitored until they are corrected. Your information packet will include the complete list of our standard lab draw.

We encourage you to share the information about follow-up care with your primary physician.
